HENS IN PARKSVILLE

The City of Parksville permits residents of single family properties to keep up to 4 egg-laying hens, subject to the following:

- The area of the property must be larger than 1,000 square metres;
- All hens must be older than 6 months;
- No roosters are permitted;
- The sale of manure, eggs or other products are not permitted;
- Slaughtering or butchering hens on the property is not permitted;
- Chickens must be given adequate food and shelter. The wellbeing of animals must be maintained in compliance with the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act. Enforcement of this act is the responsibility of the BCSPCA;
- Hens must be housed in a separate building (see inside for details);
- A household hen keeping registration form must be completed prior to bringing any hens onto the property.

WHY KEEP HENS?

- Opportunity to provide your own food
- Ability to obtain eggs from humanely -raised chickens
- Local food production contributes to a more self-reliant and resilient area
- Opportunity to make use of compostable material as feed for the hens
- Reduction in household carbon footprint by producing food at home
- Manure produced by the chickens can provide a good source of nitrogen-rich fertilizer for use in gardens
- Backyard egg production is more sustainable than large-scale egg production

HEN HOUSE CONSTRUCTION GUIDELINES

- The coop must be roofed and secured to prevent access by other animals and to prevent escape of the hens;
- The structure shall be 2 metres or less in height with 10 square metres or less floor area; a minimum of 1.5 square metres per hen must be provided (at least 6 square metres for 4 hens);
- The coop shall be located at the rear of the principal residence with a minimum 3 metre separation from the closest point to the residence;
- Please check Division 350 of the zoning bylaw for minimum setbacks from property lines and other buildings;
- Does not require a building permit.
